Track Airline Flights

Next time, let Google help you determine whether or not a flight is on time before making the drive to the airport! Go to Google.com and put in the airline name and flight number. Google will give you an estimated departure and arrival time, and all without having to navigate a convoluted airline website!