

Don't go overboard with live tiles

If an app has the option to be a live tile, it means that it can display pertinent information on the face of the tile rather than just a logo. For apps such as Weather or News, this could actually be useful and provide up-to-date information. Some apps, though, don't support any live tile function. (Note that the more live tiles you have running, the longer it will take your computer to access the Internet.)
