PrivaZer: Program to Safely Clean Your Computer

www.privazer.com There is a free version; a pro-version is $49.

Privacy is one of the elements that most concerns us when using the computer and surfing the Internet. Not surprisingly, Windows is responsible for storing different types of information about our use. To solve it we can use an application like PrivaZer that will be in charge of safely cleaning our PC, without leaving a trace of what we have been doing.

PrivaZer is a free cleaning tool for the computer and to protect our privacy since it will take care of cleaning unwanted traces of both the operating system and the programs that we have used.

By using a tool such as PrivaZer we will achieve a greater visualization of residual traces of old files that have been stored on the hard disk, a smarter cleaning of free space, as well as a greater cleaning of residual traces that have been scattered in areas of Free space and needing a zero reset.

So that the use of this application does not suppose a performance problem while we are using the computer, it allows us to program when we want it to perform the analysis and cleaning of the system, because depending on the amount of information we accumulate, the process can be lengthened . In this way, we can leave it scheduled to run when we know that we will not be using the PC.

Using PrivaZer is a simple task

Once we run Privazer, a window will appear with its main menu from where we can perform all its functions. In the left column we find the functions "Thorough analysis", "Analyze certain traces", "Delete without leaving a trace". We will also find the "Options" and "Advanced options" menu, as well as "Automatic cleaning" and "Programs".

From the "In-depth analysis" function , we can choose which element we want to carry out (hard disk, memory card, USB key, etc.) and as its name suggests, it will carry out an exhaustive analysis of all the content to prepare a report with all the garbage that we can eliminate. Once selected, the next screen will offer us what type of files we want to examine. Once analyzed, it will offer us the possibility of cleaning all the garbage that we don't need.

How to download PrivaZer for free

To start using PrivaZer, all you have to do is download it for free from its website . We can choose to download the installer or the portable version, to be able to run it from any computer. If we want to have all the available functions such as "Program" it is essential that we install the program on the computer, as it cannot be run from the portable edition.

PrivaZer is compatible with Windows 10 and 11, 32-bit and 64-bit. Similarly, it is compatible with HDD and is optimized for SSD. The latest version available is dated September 5, 2023.
