Try the Reading View in the Edge Browser

Like some other modern browsers — Apple's Safari, for example — Edge includes a "reading view" function that strips the clutter from articles you find on the web and makes them more easy to read.

To activate this feature, just find an article on the web and click the "reading view" icon (it looks like a book) in the address bar.